The English language has assumed tremendous importance in our daily lives. For the promotion of our culture, science, sports, and industry, as well as international friendship and cooperation, it is urgent that we develop the ability to communicate in English.

The Society for Testing English Proficiency, Inc., under the authorization of the Japanese Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology, conducts a program which objectively tests English proficiency in the four main areas of speaking, listening, reading, and writing.

This certificate shows that the person designated on the front possesses the English proficiency level of the grade in which he or she has been certified.

There are seven grades of certified proficiency:

Fifth Grade — Able to understand and use basic English and express oneself with limited fixed expressions.

Fourth Grade — Able to understand and use fundamental English and handle easy daily conversation in limited situations.

Third Grade — Able to understand and use elementary English and handle easy daily conversation in a variety of situations.

Pre-Second Grade — Able to understand and use general English for basic needs.

Second Grade — Able to understand and use English well enough for everyday needs and situations.

Pre-First Grade — Able to understand and use English well enough to listen to speeches and express opinions to others in public.

First Grade — Able to understand a broad range of English, and to express personal views with fluency.
